How to Read Your Private Equity Financial Statements

- Private Equity Client GAAP-Audited Financial Statements
- Private Equity U.S. Bank Custodial Account Statements

How to Read Your Statement

These statements report the total assets and cash balance of the entire feeder vehicle through which you have invested in a particular private equity investment. This statement does not show the specific amounts belonging to you or any other individual investor. If you have any questions regarding these reports, which we are required to deliver to you, please contact a member of our team.

For information regarding your individual investments, please refer to the Private Equity Quarterly Statement that Brown Advisory provides.

Keeping You Informed

As you know, Brown Advisory has a long-standing practice of aggregating clients in feeder vehicles to invest in private equity opportunities. Since January 2012, the General Partner of our feeder vehicles has been an SEC-registered investment adviser, and in order to comply with certain SEC requirements we are required to deliver financial statements to clients invested in these vehicles. These statements are one of several ways for us to ensure that you have a clear and up-to-date understanding of the current status of your investment.

In the coming weeks, you will receive information on your private equity investments in either a GAAP-Audited Financial Statement, or U.S. Bank Custodial Statement report. You will either receive the statements in the mail from U.S. Bank or they will be uploaded to TouchPoint, Brown Advisory's client web portal.

GAAP-Audited Financial Statements

GAAP-audited financial statements will be provided yearly, based on an independent accountant's review, which accounts for both authoritative standards and commonly accepted accounting practices.

U.S. Bank Custodial Statements

For those clients invested in partnerships listed in Table 1 on page 2, holdings and asset values will be reported to you quarterly by U.S. Bank, the Custodian for these partnerships. While these statements are not GAAP-audited, the reports are prepared using the same fair-value measurement standards and will be distributed some time after June 30.
